Duluth Natural Surface Trails Now Open to Users

[Duluth, MN] The City of Duluth Parks and Recreation Division announces the majority of natural surface trails are now open and ready for public use. Please observe proper trail etiquette and stewardship by respecting trail closures and avoiding any wet/muddy trails. If you notice that you are leaving a footprint or bicycle tire imprint on a trail, it is best to turn around to reduce the potential for additional trail damage. If encountering a wet/muddy spot in an otherwise completely dry trail, it is best to go through the wet, or muddy place to prevent the widening of the path. Trails will close after a rainfall event and typically take 24 hours to dry and reopen afterward.
